Video Submissions:

- Caller or videographer must announce the rider, horse, date, and test ridden (this is to avoid cross-posting the same video for multiple shows).
- All videos must be continuous - no editing allowed.
- Helmet to hoof must be in frame at all times.
- For Dressage Tests, continue filming until the final salute for Dressage Tests and for Pleasure Classes, until the horse and rider have backed their horse and are standing quietly.
- In general, try to clearly capture each movement as best as possible.
- For Dressage Tests, callers are permitted. Videographer and caller may be the same person.
- For Dressage Classes, video to be taken at C position. For all other classes, video can be taken anywhere suitable to capture the rider's class.

- All video submissions will be posted to the Facebook page to simulate (as much as possible) a genuine show experience. Videos will be posted after results have been posted.
- Videos must be uploaded to YouTube. Entry form will include a line to attach your YouTube link/links.
- It is helpful to elevate the camera on a tripod to keep it steady. Zooming in is acceptable as long as helmet to hoof are always in the frame. Following along the sides of the ring and into the corners are recommended/encouraged for Dressage Classes.

Please note, how you choose to set up and film your ring may affect how movements are perceived. It's better to give the judge a test with movements that can be clearly rather than throw marks away because the judge couldn't see a movement.*
